PARIS PEACE TREATY.

Its Senatorial Friends and Foes
Talk Compromise.

FEATURES TO BE MODIFIED.

A Resolution Declaring Against the Permanent Holding of the Philippines Will Probably Be Adopted to Appease the Opposition.

Washington, Jan. 23.—The fact that the anti-scalping bill was made the unfinished business of the senate by Saturday's vote does not necessarily insure its immediate consideration.

The general understanding is that this bill will wait upon the peace treaty and the appropriation bills, and that the Indian appropriation bill will be the first measure to receive the attention of the senate during the week. The diplomatic and pension appropriation bills, also, may be considered during the week. Several speeches on the general subject of expansion are expected to be made.

How much time will be given to the treaty in executive session will depend upon whether the committee on foreign relations considers it in the interest of the treaty to press consideration. There is an effort to arrange a compromise which would permit speedy action upon the treaty, but if this is not successful the indications are for considerable delay. Two compromises are suggested. One of these is for a modification of the treaty or the adoption of a resolution declaratory against the permanent holding of the Philippine archipelago, and the other is for a modification of the army organization bill on lines desired by the treaty opponents. It is not yet possible to state whether either course will be pursued.

On Friday the senate will listen to eulogies of the late Representative Cook of Illinois.

HULL ARMY BILL

House Will Wrestle With This Vital Measure the Present Week.

Washington, Jan. 23.—The time of the house will be devoted to the army reorganization bill.

The consideration of this bill, which is regarded as pre-eminently the most important general measure to come before congress at this session, has been delayed by the illness of Chairman Hull of the military affairs committee. He has recovered sufficiently to pilot the measure, however, and the house has formally agreed to take up its consideration on Tuesday.

The general debate, not including three night sessions, is to continue 15 hours. This is as far as the agreement goes. It includes no provision for a final vote. The debate promises to be both interesting and important, as it will raise all the questions involved in increasing our standing army to 100,000 men as proposed by the bill, together with our whole future policy relative to the territory acquired in the recent war with Spain.

There exist a wide variety of opinions upon the proposition to increase the standing army. It has a strong majority of the Republicans behind it and it comes into the house with the endorsement of the president's message practically as an administration measure. The Democrats and Populists are intensely hostile to the whole proposition and intend to fight it to the last ditch. They will have some support from the Republican side.

The opposition, however, do not desire to embarrass the government and are willing to provide for a temporary increase in the army of 50,000 men in accordance with the provisions of the substitute bill offered by the minority of the committee. Or they are willing to authorize the continuance, temporarily, of the present war strength of the regular army (62,000)—anything in fact, to prevent the creation of a permanent increase. In this they have the sympathy of many Republicans.

The fate of the bill is in grave doubt. The statements made on the floor of the senate to the effect that it was not the intention of the government to hold the Philippines permanently, although their authoritative character was denied, have placed a weapon in the hands of the opponents of the measure who will use the statement that there is doubt as to the future of the Philippines as a strong argument against permanent increase of the regular army.

The bill may not be completed this week as the order permits its consideration to be interrupted by appropriation bills and conference reports. One of these, the military academy, is on the calendar. The river and harbor bill was reported Monday and the naval bill probably before the end of the week.

They Were Soft Marks.

Cincinnati, Jan. 23.—The West End

league bowling club team of five was whitewashed by the All Stars in the series of three games played at Fairview Heights. The score: All Stars, 953, 835, 852; average, 889. West End league, 785, 815, 692; average, 784.

A CLEVELAND ENGINEER

Claims to Have Discovered a Better Route For Intercoastal Canal.

Cleveland, Jan. 23.—John F. LeBaron, a well known civil engineer, declares in an interview here that while engaged as an engineer on the old Nicargua canal, he discovered a new and practical route for the interoceanic connection.

"I was one of the engineers in charge," said he, "and became thoroughly acquainted with the territory, and when I discovered the new and more practical route I at once laid it before the men who were backing the enterprise. But they were pledged to put the canal through on practically the route they had laid out, and did not act on my suggestion, and furthermore did not want anything said of the new and shorter route.

"When congress acted on the matter and the president designated a commission to go thoroughly over the ground and report on all feasible routes, I at once wrote the commission, saying that if it was desired I would go to Washington and make known my route.

"I asked for no commission nor money, having no other interest in the matter than the public interest. The commission did not see fit to accept my offer, and therefore I have never divulged the route.

"The commission has reported favorably on the Lull route, which I believe presents obstacles that make it impracticable."

Mr. LeBaron claims that the route he proposed is much shorter than any other and would cost $22,000,000 less than any yet named.

Predicts Quay's Election.

Harrisburg, Pa., Jan. 23.—Governor Stone gave the following signed statement on the senatorial situation: "My opinion has not changed since I expressed the belief, after the action of the caucus making Mr. Quay the nominee of the Republican party for United States senator, that he would be reelected. His supporters have not had a break in their lines since that time and they have made gains. The conspiracy case brought against him in the heat of the campaign has been fully ventilated. The argument of Attorney Watson before the supreme court clearly demonstrated that there was nothing in the bills of indictment against Senator Quay."

Report on Canned Beef.

Washington, Jan. 23.—Chemist Wiley of the department of agriculture has reported to Secretary Wilson that an examination of samples of canned meats secured both in the open market and from the war department to determine the presence of any chemical preservatives failed to disclose any traces of borax, boric acid, sulphites, sulphurous acid, salicylic or benzoic acids. The presence of salt petre was confirmed in all the samples of corned beef and so called luncheon beef, but no trace of it was discovered in the roast beef, though common salt was present to a considerable extent.

Run Down by a Steamer.

San Francisco, Jan. 23.—The steam ferry boat Oakland, plying between this city and Oakland, ran down the launch William D, near Goat Island. The launch sank immediately. Engineer Waddles of the William D was drowned. F. D. Orr, a passenger, was struck by the Oakland and died of his injuries after reaching the hospital. Others were picked up by the Oakland while struggling in the water.

After the Ohio Steel Plant.

Youngstown, O., Jan. 23.—It is given out here from sources that are unquestioned that the Ohio Steel company of this city is to be sold to the American Plate company and operated by that concern. The difference delaying the completion of the deal is said to be the high price placed upon the plant by the owners. An agreement on this point is expected to be reached soon.

Released From His Oath.

Paris, Jan. 23.—Major Comte Ferdinand Walsin Esterhazy, the reputed author of the Dreyfus bordereau, who arrived here to testify before the court of cassation, wrote to M. De Freycinet, the minister for war, asking to be released from his oath of personal secrecy. M. De Freycinet acceded to his request.

One of the Partners.

Glasgow, Jan. 23.—Messrs. MacIntyre and Laird, partners in the law firm of Peattie, MacIntyre & Laird, announce that A. Y. Peattie has absconded after abstracting negotiable securities from the safe. They add: "An investigation of the firm's books has already discovered a deficiency of £40,000.

AN EARTHQUAKE DID IT

Towns and Villages In Ruins In Southern Greece.

PEOPLE TERROR-STRICKEN.

Fearing a Repetition of the Calamity, They Refuse to Return to Their Homes and Are Camping Out on the Hills.

Athens, Jan. 23.—A strong seismic disturbance was felt throughout the Peloponnesus (the southern part of the kingdom of Greece), especially in the southwestern departments of the peninsula.

All the houses in the town of Philatra, in the department of Messenia, on the Ionian coast, have been damaged and the inhabitants are now camping out in the suburbs. Two villages in the vicinity of Philatra were completely destroyed, many people being slightly injured. The villages of Kyparissia and Staso were also practically destroyed, though it is not known as yet whether there were any victims there.

Much damage to property was done at Navarino, a seaport, six miles north of Modon, whose harbor witnessed the victory of the English, French and Russian fleets over those of the Turks and Egyptians in 1827; and considerable loss is reported from Calamata, capital of the department of Messenia, near the head of the gulf of Koron.

The shock was severely felt in the district of Zante, capital of the Ionian Island of that name, but there was no loss of life or property there. Many slighter shocks occurred during the day and at night the people at numerous towns and villages are afraid to return to their houses. The authorities are doing all in their power to furnish tents and supplies.

Three Heavy Explosions.

Lebanon, Pa., Jan. 23.—Three heavy explosions occurred at short intervals at the Bird Coleman furnace plant at Cornwall, five miles from here. Buildings were shaken and many window panes broken throughout the town. The twin furnaces were much damaged and the loss was heavy. Of the many hundreds of workingmen, none was seriously hurt, although a number suffered slight injuries. The explosions were caused by molten metal eating its way out of a stack and entering the under pit, where it came into contact with water.

Astor Battery Home.

New York, Jan. 23.—After an absence of more than seven months, the Astor battery arrived in New York. During their absence the men have traveled to and from the Philippine Islands and have seen active service against the Spaniards under General McArthur at Manila. They marched from the city June 13 with three officers and 99 men. They returned with one officer and 82 men. Their loss from death was five—three dead in action and two from sickness.

Stoned by Strikers.

Colon, Colombia, Jan. 23.—The strike of dock laborers is fast assuming a serious aspect. A batch of 36 Panama dockmen arrived and stones and revolvers were fired at the train as it neared Colon. A hundred more are expected and the ship owners are anxiously awaiting their arrival, as business is seriously delayed. Soldiers are guarding the warehouses where the dockmen now on hand are at work and are preventing communication with the outside.

Catholic Social Settlement.

Cleveland, Jan. 23.—Father Benedict, prior of the Order of Saint Benedict, will start an independent Catholic social settlement in the congested Haymarket district within a few days. He came here from Buffalo. Father Benedict says he has received invitations to start similar work in Buffalo, Chicago and Milwaukee and will probably send representatives to each of these cities at the proper time.

Ordered to Santiago.

Washington, Jan. 23.—Henry M. Hoyt, assistant United States attorney general, has been ordered by the department of justice to go to Santiago and advise with General Leonard Wood on legal questions which may arise in the administration of that department and to represent the legal department of the United States there.

Bought by Englishmen.

Colorado Springs, Jan. 23.—The Moon-Anchor mine at Cripple Creek has been sold to an English company. £40,000.

LAND CASE SETTLED.

Titles to Property About Graceville, Minn. Is Secured.

St. Paul, Jan. 23.—The land case decided in favor of Archbishop Ireland by the secretary of the interior has been pending for a number of years and involves the homes of a large number of settlers.

The archbishop secured lands for the purpose of locating settlers, an Irish colony being established, and most of the lands have passed to these settlers.

There still remained, however, a good many acres not sold or only partially paid for, and on the plea that the archbishop had simply a contract to dispose of the lands as an agent, an attempt was made to prevent a transfer of those lands.

The contention of the archbishop is sustained, and he will receive all the lands under the second contract.

Title to the lands has been unsettled because of these suits for good many years, and this final decision of the matter will come as a relief not only to the settlers on the lands, but to all residents about Graceville, where the bulk of the land is located.

For a Gold Standard.

Washington, Jan. 23.—The house coinage weights and measures committee, by a strict party vote, ordered a favorable report on the substitute for Representative Hill's bill to fix the standard of value in the United States and for other purposes. The bill provides in substance that the standard of value in the United States shall be the gold dollar; that all contracts existing and in the future shall be computed in reference to that standard; that there shall be established in the treasury a department of issue and redemption; that the greenbacks shall be retired, and upon retirement that gold bills shall be substituted therefor.

Troops of General Miller Landed.

New York, Jan. 23.—General Miller's expedition has landed on Guimaras island, three miles from Iloilo, without opposition, General Otis cables from Manila. Landing was necessary, because of the crowded condition of the troops on the transports. Experience has proved that soldiers lose spirit and fighting qualities when confined long on board ship, so the war department asked General Otis to ascertain if it was possible for General Miller to land his expedition near Iloilo. He cabled that it was, and he was then instructed to order a landing.

Perished in a Fire.

New York, Jan. 23.—Miss Emma Rumpf, 22, was killed and Miss Grace Winthrop was injured at a fire in Passaic, N. J. The fire broke out in a 3-story brick building, occupied on the ground floor by Rumpf's bakery. Miss Rumpf after reaching a window, from which she could have been rescued by the firemen, went back to her bedroom to get her jewelry, was overcome by the smoke and perished. Miss Winthrop jumped from a third story window, but was caught in a net spread by the firemen, and sustained only painful injuries.

A Bloody Battle.

Nashville, Jan. 23.—On the line between Lee county, Va., and Hancock county, Tenn., a section remote from the telegraph, a battle occurred between 20 members of the Eddy family of Virginia, and the Ramsey family of Tennessee. The battle lasted several hours, during which a number of men on both sides were killed and injured. A quarrel of long standing resulted in the fight, particulars of which are not at present obtainable.

Harper's Railroad Scheme.

San Francisco, Jan. 23.—Peter L. Harper, secretary of D. C. Frazier, the English capitalist who is backing the White Pass and Yukon railroad, is here on his way east. He says the railroad is now completed from Skagway to the summit of White Pass. The company is hiring all the men it can get, as it is desired to complete the road as soon as possible as far as Fort Selkirk, 320 miles from Skagway.

Talk of Lynching.

Zanesville, O., Jan. 23.—E. S. Wright, 50, who was arrested for criminally assaulting Sylva Taylor, near Bridgeville, was bound over here in $500. There have been rumors of lynching all day, and it is reported that several hundred farmers will attack the county jail at night. From appearances here, however, everything is quiet.

Distress at Dawson.

Dawson, Jan. 23.—The situation here is gloomy. The number of sick is increasing and the six hospitals are full. The mounted police have donated for the help of the poor some $30,000 in cash from their treasury. This leaves them with but $4,000 cash on hand. Commissioner Ogilvie called a meeting to decide on ways and means for relieving the distress.

Flemingsburg, Ky., Jan. 23.

At Shurburne fire totally destroyed the business house and hotel of Burgess Brothers, with all contents; also the postoffice fixtures and mail, which were in the store. Loss $2,500.

Bought by Englishmen.

Colorado Springs, Jan. 23.—The Moon-Anchor mine at Cripple Creek has been sold to an English company.

£40,000.

Washington, Jan. 23.—The condition of General Sexton showed no change. He is dangerously ill.

GERMANY TO BE FAIR.

Will Not frustrate Revision of Samoan Treaty

BY EXTRAVAGANT DEMANDS

Regards the Maintenance of Cordial Relations With Uncle Sam and John Bull as Far More Important Than Samoan Trade.

Berlin, Jan. 23.—There is good reason for believing that the German government regards the maintenance of cordial relations with Great Britain and the United States as far more important than even German commercial interests in Samoa.

The tone of the leading journals, therefore, is, on the whole, free from bitterness or exaggeration. In a word there are many indications that Germany will not frustrate a revision of the treaty of Berlin by extravagant demands such as for the cession of the islands to Germany. The Koinische Zeitung ridicules the report that Dr. Von Holleben, German ambassador at Washington, has complained of Mr. Berry's remarks in the house of representatives and says that the United States ambassador in Berlin, Mr. White, might as well have complained of Herr Ahlwardt's anti-American ravings in the Reichstag.

Mrs. Payne Moore's Case.

New York, Jan. 23.—Justice Bookstaver, in the supreme court, granted a writ of habeas corpus for the production of Mrs. Payne Strahan Moore, who is in the Tombs awaiting her second trial for alleged complicity with her husband in "badgering" Martin Mahon. The writ inquires into the refusal of any attorney to accept the offer of J. N. Campbell to go as surety. District Attorney Gardiner intimated that he would not accept Campbell's bond and counsel for Mrs. Moore, thinking that the district attorney might refuse to accept the surety, brought the certiorari proceedings. Mrs. Moore was brought into court, but the arguing of the writ was postponed until Monday, and Mrs. Moore was taken back to the Tombs.

Heir to an Estate Appears.

Vienna, Jan. 23.—A resident of San Francisco, Charles Frye, died intestate at Vienna in July last of apoplexy, leaving the sum of £30,000, it is said, deposited in San Francisco. No heirs were discovered, and the state was about to take over the money, when two poor Swiss, named Bosshardt and May, from Dubendorff, near Zurich, arrived in Vienna on Tuesday and claimed the inheritance. They brought with them documents to show that they were the deceased's brother and brother-in-law, respectively.

THE CITY MUST FOOT THE BILL.
In regard to the question of street improvements, section 82 of the charter for fourth class cities reads:

Sec. 82. The cost of reconstructing public ways, streets or alleys, or repairing of the same, and the cost of making foot-way crossings, shall be borne exclusively by the city.

THE Standard Oil trust has raised the price of lamp oil and gasoline 2 cents a gallon. This means in Cincinnati, alone, an additional income to the trust of $100,000 a year. The extortion will take a million dollars from the people of Ohio during the next twelve months and give it to the shareholders of a company whose President had last year a net income of $30,000,000. And while all this is going on a young waiter in Chicago whose wife and child were ill is arrested and carried to prison for taking two apples and two cookies from a table at which he was allowed to eat, to carry to them.

THE quarrel between Miles and Eagan has brought to light the fact that 290,000 pounds of beef were taken to Porto Rico and then returned to New York harbor and thrown into the sea. It will be recollected that several hundred thousand pounds of beef were allowed to spoil on the side tracks of the single railroad running to Tampa. In Europe such mismanagement would have resulted in the persons responsible for it being sent to some far-off military stocade. In this country, it being the work of some Senator or Congressman's unripe son, the whole matter will be suppressed and the bill charged up to the people.

FOR REPRESENTATIVE.

Elsewhere in this issue appears the announcement of Mr. John W. Alexander as a candidate for Representative in the next Legislature, subject to the action of the Democratic party. Mr. Alexander enters the race in response to the urgent appeals of his many friends, and there are few men in the county, if any, who number more warm and enthusiastic friends than he. He is not only one of our staunchest Democrats, but he is one of the county's best and most conservative citizens, and his splendid record as Sheriff for two terms is assurance of that faithful devotion to duty which the people can expect from him in every position of trust they may honor him with. In one of his races for Sheriff Mr. Alexander received the largest majority given a candidate in this county in many years, and if he should be honored with the nomination, we believe he would again carry his party's banner to victory.

THE TRAMP AND SHANTYBOAT NUISANCE.

Few people have any idea of the annoyances West End residents are subjected to, in the way of petty thieving, at all seasons of the year, but that is nothing compared to the tramp and shantyboat nuisances, who seem to select that neighborhood as their special stronghold. It has become almost impossible to keep poultry, and no one thinks of leaving anything of value in their back yards after dark. Not long since thieves visited Mr. Simpson's poultry yard and took away many of his finest birds and shortly afterwards Mr. Fred Schnelle's barnyard became depopulated through the same agency. Yesterday a party of tramps took possession of a strip of private property just under the river bank, built a roaring fire and made merry over the good things sympathetic neighbors furnished them. Later in the day the writer saw one of their number trying to capture a too venturesome fowl which strayed within the camp precincts, though which finally escaped a cripple.

About two weeks ago a shantyboat landed at the same spot and a fellow deliberately came to the top of the bank, and after a preliminary survey, proceeded to demolish a good board fence and carry it away. He had safely disposed of two nice panks when the alarm was given and the boat shoved off and left. A little longer ago another neighbor had some clothes taken off the line in broad daylight, and a poor fellow, who could ill afford such a loss, one morning found himself minus a lot of nicely chopped wood.

The authorities should make some effort to abate this nuisance.

ABUNDANCE OF FRUIT.

Mr. Hillenmeyer Thinks This Year Will Prove a Record-Breaker, and Gives His Reasons Therefor.

Mr. H. F. Hillenmeyer, the noted nurseryman of Lexington, writing for the Danville Advocate on the fruit outlook for 1899, says:

"In so far as we may now judge, there is no reason why the fruit crop of 1899 may not be remembered as one of the most abundant at the close of the century. Its last decade has indeed been a barren one. Either by intense or untimely cold, by blighting rain or withering drought, our orchards and berry plantings have failed to yield their wonted returns. But it is a long road that has no turning. The decade of '50 had but two years of abundance, but the one succeeding was the overflowing horn of plenty.

"Many factors enter into the making of great fruit crops. One of the most important of these is the character of the preceding summer, and that of 1898, by reason of its heat and humidity, favored the development of fruit-buds of perfect vitality. Nothing has thus far injured these. There was nearly a perfect failure of the tree fruits last year, and our orchards, so to say, are bubbling over with the unexpected energies of enforced rest. The bush fruits never promised better.

"The maximum of cold is always passed by mid-January, and we are pretty certain not to be injured by winter's frost. What untimely or blighting circumstances may nip our hope later on, can of course not be determined. The many saturating rains of last summer and fall depleted the number of injurious insects, and from the ravages of these we are comparatively safe. But these same conditions favored that low form of life that mantles the blushing cheek of apple and peach with disfiguring blotches of scab and blight. These reflections are equally true of our grass and grain fields, affecting equally the wider interests of our general agriculture."

"The blooming of our fruit trees next spring is not apt to be an excessive one—it never is after a wet summer, but the lack of number will be off-set by the virility of the blossoms themselves. There may be some disappointment in the bearing of young apple and pear trees, for it is the habit of these to cast their blossoms after a summer of luxuriant growth, but the general prospect for an abundant yield of fruit is very encouraging."

Senator Jones' Prediction.

CHICAGO, Jan. 20.—Senator Jones, of the Democratic National Committee, has written a letter to George S. Bowen, Assistant Secretary of the American Bimetallic Union, in which he undertakes to point out that the claim that the United States Senate will stand committed against free silver until 1903 is not well founded. Among other things, the Senator writes:

"It is perfectly safe to assert that if the bimetallists succeed in electing the President in 1900 they will unquestionably have a clear working majority in the United States Senate."

A Boom For Tarvin.

A large number of politicians from all parts of the State were at Frankfort Friday night to attend a reception given by Colonel James A. Scott, and the subject of general discussion among them was that a Kentuckian would be nominated for Vice President on the Democratic ticket next year, and that Judge James P. Tarvin, of Covington, would more than likely be the man. Judge Tarvin is President of the Ohio Valley Bimetallic League.

DR. G. W. MURRAY, who was burned to death on the steamer Ouachita at Memphis, was from Bowling Green. He had been practicing medicine in Warren County several years, but had decided to change his location and was on his way to Leland, Miss., when the accident happened.

THIS one is taken from the West Union Defender: "A woman with nine children called on a photographer the other day and said she wanted her children's picture taken. 'How much do you charge?' 'Three dollars per dozen,' replied the photo man. 'Well I'll have to wait awhile. I have only nine, now,' she replied."

GEORGE WRIGHT, a shoemaker, fifty years of age, a bachelor, living in his shop at Morningview, was cremated at an early hour Friday morning. Amel Messing-schlafer, who was sleeping in the shop with Wright, escaped, badly burned about the head and face while trying to release his friend from burning timbers that had fallen on him.

AN old woman stopped a retired business man of Ebensburg, Pa., a few days ago on the street and handed him $2.50, which she said she owed him. The man protested that he knew nothing about it, but the old woman insisted that it was correct, and he took the money. He afterwards hunted up his books and found it was a pair of shoes sold over forty years ago, when the woman was a girl.

AN interesting opinion, reversing the judgment of the Circuit Court requiring the city of Owensboro to pay taxes on its engine houses and public parks, has just been handed down by the Court of Appeals, Judge Paynter delivering the opinion, and holds all property used for public purposes and necessary to the proper government of a city is exempt from taxation. This is the first decision on this question under the new Constitution.

The music circles of Kenton have always aimed to have first-class entertainments, and to that end have worked hard to bring the Boston Symphony Orchestra back.—Daily Democrat, Kenton, O.

He obeyed Orders.

Years ago, when Clemenceau was the mayor of Martre and at the same time a deputy, he opened a dispensary in the quarter, where advice was given free, for Clemenceau is a specialist in skin diseases. One day he noticed that he had just one hour in which to get his luncheon and go down to the chamber, where he had to interpellate the government. He called his assistant and said, "How many more patients are there waiting?"

"Six," replied the man.

One after the other had his case diagnosed, and Clemenceau, after another glance at his watch, said, "Tell the other two to undress at once, as I have only two more minutes to wait." One entered, and Clemenceau wrote out a prescription in the twinkling of an eye.

The last man came in as naked as the day when he was born. Clemenceau eyed him for a minute and then said: "You are suffering from no skin disease. What have you come here to worry me for?"

The man looked at him aghast for a minute and replied: "Skin disease? I never said I had a skin disease. Your man came in and told me to undress, M. le Depute, and I did so. All I wanted to ask you was to use your influence to get my sister a place in the post office in Algeria."

Clemenceau smiled, took his name and did use his influence.—Today.

The Gambling Bacillus.

Successful sports know that in the highways and byways are countless idiots who skimp their families, borrow, beg and even steal in order to bet on horse races at odds of 4 to 1 against them in the long run, on stocks at 20 to 1, on slugging matches at everything to nothing. The gambling bacillus infects every legitimate sport and soon rots it.—Criterion.

ENTHUSIASTIC

Was the Members' Monthly Meeting at the Y. M. C. A. Saturday Evening—Encouraging Reports From the Work.

The varied objects of the Young Men's Christian Association have seldom been more strikingly manifest than they were at the members' monthly meeting at the association parlors on last Saturday evening. It was the first of these meetings held this year, and when President J. T. Kackley called the meeting to order, he faced a large assemblage of young men, earnest, representative, and zealous for the purposes of the organization.

The President by fitting words expressed his pleasure on beholding the interest evinced by the members, and with every evidence of the gratification within him told of the rapid progress which within the past quarter the organization had made.

The Committee on Intellectual Development, by its Chairman, Prof. Henry Waller, reported that under competent instructors classes in arithmetic and penmanship would be formed, and that plans had been perfected for lectures to be inaugurated in the near future by men well qualified to speak on subjects pertaining to business, professional and literary pursuits.

A. D. Cole, Esq., Chairman of the Physical Department, reported that interest in the gymnasium classes was not only not abating, but that under the able guidance of the Physical Director, Mr. W. G. T. Baker, a growing enthusiasm was shown by members of the classes, and that the attendance was likewise increasing.

Frank O'Donnell, Esq., was then called upon by the chair and made a few impromptu remarks, which were received with applause.

Prof. Henry Gabby, Chairman of the Religious Committee, showed how the Y. M. C. A. looked after the morals of the young men, and announced that commencing Sunday, January 22, a series of addresses by eloquent men would be inaugurated on the subject, "The Young Man," touching his sphere in the home, in society, in public life and in the church.

Towards the end of the meeting a most agreeable surprise to some of those present was a brilliant elocutionary effort by the Secretary, Mr. W. G. T. Baker. His strong impersonations, his deep resonant voice, his magnificent presence, together with his possession of the "divine fire" which marks the orator, make of him an elocutionist of high rank. The members expect to hear from Mr. Baker again in recitation, and the formation of a class in eloquence under his direction is under consideration.

After remarks made by other members, and a most encouraging report on the financial condition of the organization made by the President, the members repaired to the gymnasium where brawn and muscle, trained eye and skillful hand were called in play by games and physical feats, showing that whilst cultivating the mind and heart, the Y. M. C. A. forgets not the body, "the temple of the Holy Ghost."

After an enjoyable luncheon, the meeting dispersed.

CURRENT MISCELLANY'

In addition to a political there is also a clear moral gain in the fact that the constitutional throne is filled by a woman. It cannot be doubted that the court of a queen makes more obviously for humanity and for morality than does that of a king. At the present time, it is true, most of the European monarchs have a singularly good record, and some of them are clearly on a higher level than the average of their subjects. All are humane men, some are even men of an austere morality, and the presidents of the two great republics of the world are embodiments of the homely virtues which are the bulwarks of national strength. But we cannot forget that it has not always been so; nay, that it was not so but a few years ago. The world has not forgotten the orgies of Louis Napoleon or of the great galantuo of the house of Savoy, and it knows that what has been may easily be again. But it is impossible today for the "first lady" of any land not to be a force making for morality, it is impossible for her to be other than a woman of purity of life, and so an example to the nation. We pardon Victor Emmanuel's amours (or at least we overlook them) for the sake of his courage and devotion, but no pardon could or would be extended to a woman on the throne who had lapsed from virtue or had even given reasonable occasion for the tongue of scandal. Who will deny that this is a great gain for the great sovereignty of a "crowned republik?"—London Spectator.

Cocoanuts In Jamaica.

Oh, 'Arry, spending your 'oliday on 'Ampstead 'eath, think of an island where you get for a penny not "three shies" with a stick at a cocoanut, but three cocoanuts. What an eternity of Aunt Sally the vision opens up to your cockney mind! This morning in front of my window a black urchin ran up a palm tree like a spider monkey and threw down half a dozen nuts to his big friend below, who with his machete chopped off the ends and bored holes almost as quickly as a barman opens you an oyster, and there the two blackamoors stood, with their faces flat up to the sky, guzzling the sweet milk. When each had emptied a couple, they drew their hands across their mouths, picked up another nut apiece and strolled away. Stealing them? I suppose so. But what kind of theft is it when everybody sees you stealing and nobody seems to mind? It was only cocoanuts, after all. There were 10,000,000, exported from Jamaica alone last year, and if there had been ships to carry them there might have been 50,000,000. The bulk of them, as indeed of all West Indian fruit, went to the United States, but there are indications that the coming changes in what were "the Spanish West Indies" are already beginning to affect the course of trade, and the West Indian fruit grower, apprehensive of danger, seems to be turning in anxiety from the markets of America to those of England.—Harper's Weekly.

Kodak Shot of the Editor.

The other day D. C. Lake came up to The Free Press office and presented a picture to us. It was a rear view of a man walking along the street. We did not know him at all. After a good deal of "palavering around" Mr. Lake informed us that it was a picture of ourself as his son Arthur had caught us with his kodak one day last summer.

This picture is a disillusionizer. We had been used to a front view of that figure; we knew it when it was young, had grown up with it, and the changes had come on so gradually that we had not recognized them. Oh, yes, we had noticed the hair getting gray, but that was early piety! Some wrinkles were gathering, but that was deep thinking! Our wind didn't hold out well, but then we were no pop, anyhow.

But this rear view, that's something different. There's no deceiving ourselves into the belief that that is the picture of a spry young man. There's no youth or beauty or comeliness in that bowed back, that gray head sticking forward, those arms hanging out like the unbuckled hames of a Clydesdale's harness. We must step forward and greet the old fellow. "Hello, uncle! How's the old lady?"—Osage (Kan.) Free Press.

Disguised as a Clean Citizen.

John Mattney, an unkempt and dirty tramp, was charged with stealing a pair of oxen from Joe Brown of Harrison, this county, and selling the animals to local dealers. He was arrested at Rockwood and put in jail. He finally secured a capable lawyer, and when the case was called in the justice court today a clean shaven, well dressed, good looking man took the prisoners' box for trial. When Mr. Brown and the cattle dealers took the witness stand, they were completely taken by surprise at the appearance of the man charged with the theft, and neither of them could swear positively that he was the thief. He was therefore discharged, and before further proceedings could be had he fled the city. His lawyer had him shaved, his hair cut and put a clean shirt and collar on him, all of which so changed him that his identity was lost.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

WOMAN AND FASHION.

Gown For a Young Woman—Borders of Fur—One of the Newest Hat Rosettes.

One of the season's most effective designs for an afternoon gown for a young girl is shown in the illustration. The material is a cloth of medium weight in a shade known as "army blue." The skirt is perfectly plain and is shaped to the figure over the hips. It is rather ample around the bottom. The corsage fits snugly in the back and is gathered in a few scarcely noticeable plaits in front. The revers, very wide and cut square, are of white cloth, richly embroidered with black chenille. The yoke is striped laterally with bands of dark red cloth edged with black velvet. The collar and girdle are of "army blue" velvet.

It is often a good plan when the costume is in a dark shade, say blue, black, dark brown or green, to make the revers of silk in a contrasting light shade, such as light red, turquoise, etc. The revers are then partially covered with designs executed in black braid, guipure or applications of lace. Lace insertions are also favored for this purpose by many who are acknowledged leaders of fashion in Paris.—New York Telegram.

GAVE HIMSELF UP.

Conscience Disturbs a Kentucky Murderer's Peace of Mind.

Bowling Green, Ky., Jan. 23.—Seven years ago at Butlersville, in Allen county, a most horrible double murder was committed, and ever since the perpetrator has been a fugitive from justice. Three prominent men of the place engaged in a game of cards, and during the game there was gambling, and as a result Briggs Caldwell, one of the party, drew a revolver and shot and killed Fount Justice and Charles Hancock. A few days since Caldwell arrived in Scottsville and presented himself at the jail and demanded that he be locked up. He says that he has grown tired of being dogged to death by his conscience.

He Surrendered.

Stockton, Cal., Jan. 23.—A man giving his name as Laurence Pulliam walked into the sheriff's office, requested that he be taken into custody and asked that a telegram be sent to the sheriff at Asheville, N. C., announcing that Pulliam was here and ready to stand trial. Sheriff Sibley wired to Asheville and received word that the man was wanted, a private dispatch adding the information that Pulliam is a defaulter.

The Cincinnati Leaf Tobacco Warehouse Company, in its circular for the week, has the following:

The present week offered the almost forgotten spectacle of offerings sufficiently large to crowd out one of the houses. The Bodman, having the last sale, had not been reached on Wednesday, when the sales stopped at 4 o'clock, and their large offerings went over to Thursday morning. During the short crop year this hardly ever happened, but we may look for the same occurrence more frequently in this year, particularly under the present prospect that the large manufacturers will look to the open markets for their supply, instead of making large purchases in the country. Shippers will, therefore, do well to use four days of the week for their offerings instead of almost confining themselves to Wednesday and Thursday.

The market was improved on old tobacco, which is not at all surprising, because the stocks of these goods in the warehouses are very light, and are, of course, getting smaller every day. All of this tobacco seems to be selling higher. The advance on low and medium grades of old stock, which we reported in our last, was fully sustained, and has in this week extended itself to the better grades. Sales of the latter were very much more satisfactory than we have known them for many months.

There was quite a large offering of new tobacco. Prices were no higher than last reported. The bidding on these goods is liberal, all manufacturers buying them, but there is as yet no speculation in them, either in the market, nor in the country. The fact is that on the present market country dealers can not see a profit over prices asked by farmers, and as a result hardly any country purchases have so far been made, which is quite unusual for this time of the year.

Sometimes it seems to weary woman that she must certainly give up. The simplest and easiest work becomes an almost insurmountable task. Nervousness, sleeplessness and pain harrass her and life seems hardly worth the living.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription was made for her. The former is for ills distinctly feminine, the other for her general system. Together they supply a scientific and successful course of treatment. The "Favorite Prescription" restores healthy, regular action to the organs distinctly feminine. It forces out all impurities, strengthens the tissues, allays inflammation. The "Golden Medical Discovery" makes appetite, helps digestion, promotes assimilation, fills out the hollows in cheeks and neck with good solid flesh and brings back the gladsome glow of girlhood.
